

Module 7: Emotional Resilience

Assignment

Reflection Essay

Reflection Essay | 75 points | Due after Module 7.

Write a reflection essay of 400 to 600 words responding to this prompt: What are you most worried about going into your first college semester, and what do you already have going for you that will help you handle it?

- Name at least one specific concern from this module.
- Name at least one concrete strength or strategy you are bringing with you.
- Both halves of the prompt matter equally.

Rubric

Exemplary	Proficient	Emerging	Incomplete
68-75 pts: Essay addresses both halves with specific, honest detail. At least one concern is tied to module content and named directly (imposter syndrome, code-switching, homesickness, belonging uncertainty). At least one strength or strategy feels genuine rather than generic. The essay reads like a real person writing about their actual situation.	56-67 pts: Essay addresses both halves. One half may be stronger than the other. The connection to module content is present but may be implied rather than named.	38-55 pts: Essay addresses only one half of the prompt, or both halves are very general and could apply to any student at any school.	0-37 pts: Not submitted, does not engage the prompt, or is under 200 words.